The designation EXCON has been registered as a trademark for EXCON Services GmbH at the German Patent and Trademark Office as well as at the Harmonization Office for the Internal Market.

EXCON endeavors to prevent and/or counteract any form of discrimination of persons. This is also reflected in the language use desired and customary at EXCON which always addresses or includes both men and women, unless there are legitimate reasons for addressing and/or including exclusively men or exclusively women.

Since any text which consistently uses equally both male and female forms can easily be confusing to read and unintelligible, the texts in this Internet presence in parts use exclusively the male form. However, in such cases, the female form will likewise always be explicitly intended as well.
